These terms apply to Customers who use Adnuntius' feature for Political Advertising.

3.1 Political ads: Definition. 3.2 Political Ads: Compliance. 3.4 Political Ads: Notification. In the event that a Party suspects that the other Party is not in compliance with Political Advertising Law, that Party shall without undue delay notify the other Party.

3.5 Political Ads: Foreign Entities. Without prejudice to stricter national rules, in the last three months (90 days) preceding an election or referendum organised at Union level or at national, regional or local level in a Member State, traffic of Political Ads pertaining to that election or referendum shall only be delivered on behalf of a sponsor, or service provider acting on behalf of a sponsor, who is (1) a citizen of the Union; or (2) a third-country national permanently residing in the Union and having a right to vote in that election or referendum in accordance with the national law of the Member State of residence; or (c) a legal person established in the Union which is not ultimately owned or controlled by a third-country national, with the exception of third-country nationals referred to in point (2), or by a legal person established in a third country.

3.6 Political Ads: Targeting. The Parties acknowledge that Political Ads are subject to limitations in targeting that can be applied to ads, unless explicitly consented to by Public Users, and the Customer agrees to limit targeting in compliance with Political Advertising Law.

3.7 Political Ads: Availability. Within 72 hours of the first publication of the advertisement Adnuntius is obliged to make the Political Ad and the related information available to the European Register of Online Political Advertising, where it will be publicly available for a period of 7 years. Adnuntius is also obliged to store and, in some cases, transmit the political advertisement and the information required under the 'Regulation on Transparency and Targeting of Political Advertising' for a period of 7 years after the latest publication. The Customer guarantees that the material provided to Adnuntius has been cleared for this use.
